

Glenbriar Managed Services a success for oil and gas companies

CALGARY, AB - April 11, 2007 — Glenbriar Technologies Inc. is pleased to announce the highly successful completion of the first quarter of complete Managed Infrastructure Services (MIS) for a number of oil and gas (O&G) companies. Glenbriar's MIS offering was developed to meet the specific needs of junior to mid-sized O&G companies and was first implemented by Pearl Exploration and Production Ltd. and Tanganyika Oil Company Ltd.

"During the development of our MIS offering, a number of O&G specific issues were identified and addressed," noted Rodney Taylor, Director of Corporate Development for Glenbriar. "One of the greatest hurdles mitigated by Glenbriar was developing a plan to manage the often explosive growth of O&G companies because of operational expansion or M&A activities. Secondary issues supporting dispersed field employees and providing effective and seamless end-user service desk functionality were also addressed during MIS development."

Glenbriar MIS provides a scalable and highly efficient, cost effective outsourcing solution for corporate IT and telecom functions. Core services supported include Service Desk and end-user support, remote monitoring and performance reporting, infrastructure design, execution and maintenance, and corporate communications. By leveraging Glenbriar's national team of specialized consultants and engineers, clients realize greatly increased business efficiencies over "in-house" IT staffing solutions.
